

1934-36 PHOTO ALBUM

Herewith the JOURNAL presents its second set of album photos, photos discovered by one of our Members and made available for presentation to all in the pages of the JOURNAL. In this and the last issue, only the surface has been scratched in the portrayal of bits of aviation history through the small and large collections of photos of early aircraft which many men and women still have in their possession.

It is to be hoped that with the start of this means of recording aviation's past, many Members will look around and find aviation people who have their own photo albums or photo collections. Once located, these people are usually most willing to allow the JOURNAL to borrow their photos and reproduce them in its pages. However, the first step is to contact these people, assess that their photos do have some historical value and acquaint them with the JOURNAL'S need to borrow and reproduce their photographs. This is a way for every Member to help the Society, and all those who are interested in assisting with this program are asked to get in touch with the Editor.

The photographs on these two pages were discovered by Member Sgt Jim Crow and are from the collection of George W. Guest. Several of the photos were taken at the Scranton Airport, Pennsylvania, whose hangar area is shown in the photo above.

Martin B-12 from Wright Field visiting Newark Airport, New Jersey on March 28, 1936.

Buxton Glider, R 14210, at a glider meet, Harris Hill, Elmira, New York during 1935.

Boeing Model 80A-1 with three Pratt & Whitney Hornet engines at Scranton, Pennsylvania during 1935.

Stinson Model A of American Airlines, with AA's blind flying Stearman in background, Newark, March 28, 1936.

New Standard D-25 visiting Scranton Airport, 1935.

Stearman-Hammond "Y" at Newark on March 28, 1936.

Waco UIC that took part in the 1934 Pennsylvania Air Tour as seen at Scranton Airport, Pennsylvania.