

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WWI MOTION PICTURE MATERIAL

Compiled By

Frank Strnad

1. Dick Grace, I'm Still Alive, Rand McNally Company, New York, 1931.
Illustrated with scenes from Young Eagles, Lilac Time and Wings. Photos of Travel Air's, D-7 and other unidentified aircraft.
2. Dick Grace, Squadron of Death, Sun Dial Press, Garden City, N.Y., 1937.
Illustrated with scenes from Wings and Lilac Time. Photos of Spad 7 and OX5 Waco's. Apparently both allied and German aircraft in Lilac Time were OX5 Waco's. The Germans were painted in a checkerboard color scheme.
3. "Movie Aerial Stunts" by H. H. Dunn, Popular Mechanics, June 1930, pp 962-967.
7 illustrations. Hell's Angels, Wings and Young Eagles. Thomas-Morse MB3A used in Wings. Group photo of Hell's Angels aircraft, 2 SE-5's, 1 Sikorsky S-29 as Gotha, 1 DH-4, 5 D-7's, 11 Wichita Fokkers, 17 Travel Airs as allied ships.
4. "Thrilling Air Battles Fought For The Movies" by Andrew R. Boone, Popular Science, July 1932, pp 26-28, 112. 11 ill.
Hell's Angels and The Lost Squadron. Thomas Morse S4C in The Lost Squadron. D-7's, T/A and Nieuport 28 in Hell's Angels.
5. "Dogfights of the Films" by William J. Boylhart, Flying Aces, February 1937, pp 10-12, 91, 92. 6 ill.
Hell's Angels, Sky Devils, Ace of Aces, Hell In The Heavens and The Sky Raider. SE-5, D-7, Nieuport 28 in Hell's Angels.
6. "Hollywood Skymen Re-Fight The War" by W. J. Boylhart and G. B. Jarrett, Flying Aces, November 1938, pp 8-10, 58, 59. 11 ill.
Men With Wings, Spad 7, D-7, T/A, Thomas Morse S4C and Boeing P-12.
7. Model Airplane News, June 1938.
3 illustrations of D-7 and T/A as German and Allied aircraft in Men With Wings.
8. "The Signal Corp of the Movies" by A. P. Peck, Scientific American, March 1927, pp 159-161. 11 ill.
Scenes from Wings. DH-4 and Thomas Morse MB3A's.
9. "A Movie Stunt Man Breaks His Neck", Look, December 21, 1937, pp 21-27, 12 ill.
Wings, Young Eagles and Lilac Time. Spad 7, D-7 and T/A.
10. "An Airplane Crashes Into A Tree", Look, July 5, 1938, pp 43-44, 5 ill.
OX5 Waco cracked up for Lilac Time.
11. "I Learned About Flying From That, No. 13" by Capt. Earl H. Robinson, Popular Aviation, May 1940, pp 35, 75. 2 ill.
Scenes from Dawn Patrol. Allied T/A and JN4; Standards as German aircraft.